6. Once completed relax and bring the work with you on 05/09/20.

Task 1 Observation

Observational drawing is a good starting point for anyone interested in art and design. Trying to draw a still life object can help you to develop an eye for detail which is an important tool for a creative person.

If you have only one pencil that is ok, just practice making very light marks on the paper and then very dark before you start drawing. You will need to draw with light pencil marks to start. If you do have a set of pencils practice drawing a few lines with each one. Before you start drawing you could start drawing with a H pencil.

Drawing Tasks

Drawing 1: Find an object(s) for example Lamp, Bottle, fruit (veg), Items from the kitchen and Plants: arrange them on a table in a place where you can sit comfortably and draw it/them.

Drawing 2: Draw the corner of your room.

When you have completed the drawing, write a sentence explaining which one you liked the most and why.

Task 2 Communication (Pick one of the two tasks below).

Photography Task

The summer will give you the opportunity of having spare time to do the things you enjoy.

Take fifty pictures throughout the summer break. Then choose five of them and write a sentence for each of them, explaining why you chose it to be in the top 5. Click this link for help with Mobile Photography

Media Task

Task 3 Invention

This invention has an unlimited supply of financial contribution.

This is the greatest artist in the world but no one knows...yet.

This is where she lives.

This artist needs your help!

Invention Task

The problem is ... the studio is at the top floor but it's a struggle getting up and down the stairs and there is no room for a lift. Also she has no water in the studio to wash the equipment.

Create three different designs for inventions to help the artist to reach up stairs and to provide water for the art studio. Add information around the drawing explaining how each of the three designs would work.

Please bring work with you to college on the 05/09/20. Thank you.
